MANUFACTURING.

An Opportunity that Should Not be Lost.

It is a well-known fact that there is nothing that serves to build up a town and keep it prosperous as does manufacturing, and the more diversified its manufacturing interests, the more flourishing the town. There is an opportunity afforded our citizens for securing an important manufacturing interest, that should not be lost.

The Union Chair Works, of Detroit, have about decided to remove their manufactory to some point in the northern part of the lower peninsula. We believe that if a proper effort is made by our citizens that the manufactory can be secured for Cheboygan. Mr. J. McLaughlin, the manager, says they would employ from 100 to 200 hands constantly. Should they be induced to locate here it would add several hundred to our population to once. It must be conceded that there is no point in the northern part of the lower peninsula where such an establishment could be located to better advantage. The shipping facilities from this port is unexcelled. During the season of navigation steamers leave the port daily, reaching the most important markets of the country, both east and west. The Michigan Central railroad, and its connections, forms direct communication by rail with all sections. In this vicinity there is an abundance of raw material used in the manufacturing of chairs to be had at a very low figure. Taxes are very much lower here than at large manufacturing centers. Labor can be had at lower rates and there is no reason why such a manufactory could not be conducted here so as to pay handsomely those interested. We would like very much to see an effort made to secure the location of the Union Chair Works at this point, and believe if our citizens take hold of the matter and make a proper showing of the advantages offered here, and by offering certain inducements, that the company could be induced to come here. What say the public-spirited men of Cheboygan?

Gov. Begole's Appointments.

Wednesday Governor Begole sent to the Senate the following appointments, all of which were promptly confirmed: Commissioner of Insurance, Eugene Pringle; Jackson; Warden of Jackson state prison, E. B. Pond, Ann Arbor; warden of Ionia state house of correction, D. W. Waters, Grand Rapids; member of the state board of charities, Levi L. Barbour, Detroit; inspectors of the state prison, Edward Kanter, Wayne; Foster Pratt, Kalamazoo; members of the state board of health, Prof. Victor C. Vaughn, Ann Arbor; Dr. C. V. Tyler, Bay City; members of the state board of agriculture, Elijah W. Reising, Genesee; Wm. L. Walton, Macomb; members of the board of reform school for boys; Edwin F. Uhl, Grand Rapids; member of the board of state public school at Coldwater, Richard E. Case, Three Rivers; members of the board of control of reform school for girls at Adrian, Mrs. Arthuretta S. Fuller, Grand Rapids, Wm. Corbin, Adrian; trustees Kalamazoo asylum for insane, T. R. Sherwood, Kalamazoo, Dr. Alva Nichols, Greenville; trustees of Pontiac asylum for insane, Moses W. Fields, Jacob S. Farland, Wayne; state librarian, Harriet A. Tenney, Lansing.

He also sent in the names of Wm. P. Innes, of Grand Rapids, for commissioner of railroads and A. P. Swineford, of Marquette, for commissioner of mineral statistics, not confirmed by the senate but held over for further consideration. Gen. John Robertson, the veteran adjutant general, who filled that position for 25 years, including the war period, was reappointed and promptly confirmed.

On the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 24, our citizens are to have an opportunity to enjoy an entertainment given by home talent. It is to be a concert given by Messrs. Fax, Lent, Langmaid and others. The reputation of these gentlemen, in regard to musical ability, is so well known that it is needless for us to say that a very fine entertainment may be expected, and we have no doubt but that they will be greeted by a full house.

Fresh groceries received daily at W. G. Boggs.

The Star Course.

The second and third of the series of entertainments under the auspices of Temple Lodge No. 331 I. O. O. F. of this village, took place at the town hall Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, upon which occasions G. Paul Smith, "the modern proteus," appeared in his famous impersonations, and fully sustained the reputation which preceded him. Accompanying Mr. Smith was Mr. Frank E. Holton, trombone soloist, whose artistic playing on his favorite instrument was a very enjoyable addition to the entertainments. Large audiences were in attendance and enjoyed the entertainments very much. G. Paul in his impersonations is simply "immense" and portrays the characters impersonated to life. His lightning crayon sketches, presented the second evening, were remarkable and elicited hearty applause. Frank Holton, the trombone soloist, delighted those present by the artistic manner he manipulated that instrument, and sweet strains he produced, and his part of the programme was one of the most enjoyable features of the entertainments. Miss Cassie Summers presided at the organ and played the accompaniments. The Odd-fellows are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts to provide entertainment for our citizens. That their efforts are appreciated is shown from the liberal patronage they have so far received. The next entertainment of the course is announced for Saturday evening, January 27th, on which occasion Miss Julia Lee, the accomplished reader and elocutionist appears. From her reputation as an artist, we predict a most interesting and enjoyable evening for our citizens.

YOU ARE FINED $100.

How Col. Abner Taylor Settled a Recalcitrant.

The following good one on our fellow townsman and popular host of the Grand Central hotel, we find in the Chicago Herald of last Sunday:

A neat little story on starters has cropped out through the Binders Gazette and seems to come from the "vet" Billy Boyl. It refers to a race at Dexter Park some years ago in this city. It seems the black mare Cozette was in a race on which the betting was very heavy, and when the deciding heat was to be trotted Cozette had the pole. The starting judge was Col. Abner Taylor, and it was a failure of his to overlook the pole horse. On one of the scorings Cozette came to the wire fully a length behind the others, but Colonel Taylor did not notice this fact, and gave the word. The result of this blunder was that Cozette at once lost the pole, and was compelled to trot around all the other horses. But in spite of this she won the heat and race. Most men would have been satisfied with this, but the owner of Cozette was not. Going on the quarter stretch in front of the judges' stand, he declared in loud tones concerning the injustice done Cozette. He made so much noise that finally Colonel Taylor came to the front of the stand and addressed the excited individual:

"Who are you, sir?" he asked.
"I am the owner of Cozette."
"What is your name?" this very blandly.

"J. M. French, of Detroit," came the reply in thunderous tones.

"Well, Mr. J. M. French, of Detroit, you are fined $100, and the gaunt form of the starting judge disappeared."

There was no help for it. Mr. French's mare had first money in the purse just trotted for coming to her, and Billy took the fine out of that. But it was a long time before Mr. French again aired his opinions of Chicago judges in so public a manner.

Death of Lot M. Morrill.

Lot M. Morrill, who died Wednesday at Portland, has filled numerous public positions and always with credit to himself and his state. He was born at Belgrade, Kennebec county, Maine, in 1815, and entered Waterville college in 1834, but soon after began the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1839. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1854; president of the state senate in 1856; governor in 1858, 1859 and 1860; United States senator for the unexpired term of Hanibal Hamlin in 1861, and member of the "peace congress" in the same year; senator by re-election from 1863 to 1869; and again to fill out the term of William Pitt Fessenden, which expired in 1874. On retiring from the Senatorship he was appointed collector of the port of Portland, and he held that position up to the time of his death.

Quite a number of the young people of the Congregational church met at the pastor's residence last evening for the purpose of forming a "young peoples' society."

APPALLING HORROR.

Newhall House, Milwaukee Burned—Great Loss of Life.

Before the new year was fairly started it is called to record one of the most appalling disasters from fire that has ever occurred in the West. Early Wednesday morning the Newhall house, one of the largest hotels of Milwaukee, was discovered on fire and was burned the ground. The most heart-rending feature of the fire was the large number of lives lost.

A United Press Milwaukee special says that at midnight Milwaukee does not know the full extent of the calamity which overtook it at 4 o'clock this morning when the Newhall house was burned and some one hundred persons sacrificed to its faulty construction. Many of the inmates threw themselves out of the windows and their mangled remains stiffened on the pavements below. Many were buried in the blazing ruins or were dashed to pieces between the walls as they fell outward.

The list of dead as far as known are Allen Johnson, the millionaire commission man of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Allen Johnson, D. G. Powers, the inventor, J. H. Hough, Mrs. John Gilbert, wife of an actor with Minnie Palmer's company, Miss Libbie Cholles, Mr. Huff of Iowa, Mrs. Kelly, Miss Oriol, Bessie Brown, Thos. E. Vanloon, a capitalist, Maggie Owens, Lizzie Kelly, Kate Lineham, Maggie Quillman, Augusta Gera, and Mitchell Brown, servants, C. Powery, Mary McMann, Chas. Kelsey, Tom Thumb's servant, and many others. One of the most sickening scenes, was witnessed at the morgue at six o'clock. There were fifteen bodies laid upon marble slabs and upon the floor. One of the first bodies recognized was that of Mrs. John Gilbert of the Minnie Palmer company. They were married yesterday morning in Chicago, and the bride of a night lay out on the cold marble, charred and bruised almost beyond recognition. She was a Miss Sutton of Chicago. Most of the Tom Thumb troupe have been heard from. General Tom Thumb and wife are safe.

A Golden Anniversary.

Springfield (O.) Republic.

Mr. Jacob Winger and his wife Catherine Trout Winger observed, this day, the 27th of December, 1882, the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, which was celebrated in Lancaster county, Penn. There were present at the residence of Mr. Theodore Troupe and wife, at 89 Kizer street, Captain Amaziah Winger, wife and children, of this city; Mr. George W. Winger, wife and children, of this city; Mr. Theodore Troupe and his wife Mary Coates Winger; Mr. John M. Winger, wife and son Waldo; Mr. Charles S. Ramsay, and wife, Mrs. Kate Winger Ramsay, of Cheboygan, Mich.; and Mrs. Ellis, of Hillsboro. Dinner was served at half-past one; and a jollier crowd was never gathered around a table, or was better provided for when gathered, as Mrs. Troupe rather added to her well-known reputation on this occasion.

Mr. Winger and his worthy wife are among the most highly esteemed residents. They came to Springfield in 1837 and Mr. Winger was in active business here for 28 years, but since 1865 he has been an invalid, but now, at the age of 72, he is about the house most of the time. Mrs. Winger is in a fair state of health.
